Why is it that right now when strikes are giving us the maximum of rest we are said to be in the worst state of unrest?

RELIEF REACTION
 Following a year and a half of considerable self-denial for Americans—such affairs as the proposed coal strike confront us.

What do the strikers want? A six-hour day, a five-day week and about 40 per cent increase in wages. To gain this they will stop the production of coal which will provide warmth for the little huddles of gain this they will stop the production of railroads and the lighting systems of cities. For this they will stop the use of coal on transportation that is bearing food to the hungry children of Europe.

If their desires are not unreasonable, their claims, rightly supported, cannot their claims be considered fairly in a court of arbiters, or than any individual desire, or the degree of a small group, stands the necessity and comfort of the whole of America. It is not for the promulgation of peace and integral liberty of all peoples that the war was fought. And a year after the end of the war, the mud and graves in muddy battlefields, their fathers, brothers, uncles and cousins whose cause untold misery and disaster because of a selfish desire have not their wishes granted and have granted now.

It is rumored that the Hungarians are seeking a king. No doubt they will discover that it is as difficult to find kings these days as it is to find cooks.

THE SUGAR FAMINE
 A late report from the Senate Agricultural committee states that no relief from the present sugar situation is in sight, and that it is probable conditions will become worse.
 Consumption of sugar has increased 10 per cent, compared with last year.
 Dr. Alonso Taylor of the Department of Agriculture attributes this increase to three causes. The first is the increased manufacture of candy and soft drinks to satisfy a demand resulting from prohibition. The second cause is the increased extravagance which people are indulging in as a reaction from depressing war conditions.
 Another reason for the shortage and for the high price is the increased demand for sugar in Europe.
 The price of sugar, Dexter Taylor told the committee, had nothing to do with its consumption in the United States as long as the people were indulgences in a " orgy of spending " and were not trying to economize. If this country is to get sufficient supplies, he said, it will have to turn to Europe with a resulting advance in prices.
 It is the plan of George A. Zahris, president of the United States Sugar Equalization Board, to obtain power for his board from Congress to purchase the entire Cuban crop in order to carry out this plan successfully, the board will have to continue in operation during 1920. It is the opinion of the committee that the United States refiners will have to be controlled under the same restrictions which were in force during the war before relief from the shortage can be had.

Half the term has gone and half the professors, looking over half of their pupils, feel like saying with former Professor James of Harvard: "Whatever time they do not use in personal adornment they use in neglect of their duties."

SATISFACTION AND PROGRESS
 Are you satisfied?
 If you are, you have done one of two things: Either you think you have attained an ideal or you have made yourself an undesirable threat in the fabric of progress. Ideas never allow themselves to be reached. The moment an ideal is reached it ceases to be. Approaches to ideas are sometimes better a feeling that is pleasing, but to be actually satisfied is to be unconcerned about better things than those with which you are surrounded.
 Lord Northcliffe once stopped by the desk of a man who had been with his employer but a few weeks and said to him, "And are you satisfied?" Upon receiving the reply that the reporter was entirely satisfied with his position and pay, Northcliffe said, "I will require your services no longer."

WOULDED MEN MAKING GOOD

Disabled Soldiers Among M. T.
 Evans and His Class.
 Disabled soldiers in the University who are being educated at the expenses of the Rehabilitation Division of the Federal Board for Vocational Education are making good, according to the September class reports to Theodore Seashore, local agent for the division. Fifty-nine of the sixty-three men enrolled in the University at the beginning of the fall term are proving to be good students, according to their instructors.
 Thirty-four men are enrolled in the College of Agriculture. They will be given a two-year course if they make the required grades the first year; 31 disabled service men are students in the School of Journalism, nine in the College of Arts and Science, four in the College of Law, two in the School of Engineering, two in the Graduate School and one in the School of Education.

Many of the former service men are completing their college education, according to Mr. Seashore. Some are supplementing their practical experience. Most of the men in the College of Agriculture have had no college training, but are fitted for farming, because of their previous occupation.

CHECKER GAME TOOK 7 YEARS
 Henry Clay's Long Contest Recalled by a Local Enthusiast.

Do you think you could be patient enough to play on one game of checkers for seven years? If so you may equal the record for the world's longest game.

Columbia's checker game has been found in the local courthouse. An aspiring champion was it, took Henry Clay of Virginia seven years to win his game. "Then asked to explain, he said, "well, such a long game was made as a ship moved and his opponent was a man in England." No one questioned his knowledge of history and the statement stood as correct.
 The aspiring champion moved into a trap and the veteran swapped one for three. The game was not prolonged for any length of time.
 The outcome held his reputation as the best in town.
