

Table with multiple columns containing data for various railroad lines, including names, dates, and financial figures. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different regions or types of railroads.