

Table with multiple columns containing data for various railroad lines, including names, dates, and numerical values. The table is organized into several sections, likely representing different regions or types of railroads.